National Children's Day

by: Vivian & Michelle

Do you like children's day? Jr. stuco is the group behind the preparation of Children's day. All elementary celebrates it kind of the same way. Children's day celebrate here at school (theater, domes, classrooms, and sometimes on the playground). We are allowed to use casual clothes starting the day we first go to the talent show (kids performances). After we go to the talent show we return to our classrooms some moms come and give us gorditas and juice. Moms stay and put us activities like board games and give us prizes when we win. After the moms go we go outside and play field games like futbase, 4 cones, doctor, etc. When games are finish we go back to our classroom and give out candy. Then we go home.

State Science Fair

by: Pedro & Ale

I don't know if you remember but the past months there were cool things happening in fifth grade. For example: the science fair, the green market (which was made by the fifth grade science teacher Miss Gabriela Aguirre), children's day celebration and no more T.A.G. To start us off with the science fair, the science fair is a day where all 5th graders prepare weeks before and they do research and do the scientific method. Then they create a project based on their project based on their topic. And the day comes, all the 5th graders are excited but nervous at the same time. Parents are allowed to come and the teachers take their students to the mini gym and they see the projects. But there are some rules for the exhibitors and for the audience. First for the audience: they can't be talking while they are in the presentation, always pay attention, do continue page 3

Economics

by: Santiago & Maximiliano

The green market has its origins with Miss Gaby Aguirre. They are going to be lots of ecological solutions like thermos, ecologic bags, solar panels, etc. this is more expensive but this is going to help you to save money and help the planet but somethings are not going to be on sale only in exhibition. It will be in recess.

In CAT we are helping old people by donating cleaning articles. Why not donate money each person 10 or more? Just in elementary they will make more than 6000 pesos it will be lots of money and is a good idea to bring a can of food. Is going to be the 20 of April

To start us off with the science fair, the science fair is a day where all 5th graders prepare weeks before and they do research and do the scientific method. Then they create a project based on their project based on their topic. And the day comes, all the 5th graders are excited but nervous at the same time. Parents are allowed to come and the teachers take their students to the mini gym and they see the projects. But there are some rules for the exhibitors and for the audience. First for the audience: they can't be talking while they are in the presentation, always pay attention, do not interrupt the students that are giving the presentation, for the exhibitors the rules are: do not give out treats for the audience, do not go to another presentation when it's not time, you can only go on the ten minutes given to the students from 10:45 to 10:55. so after explaining that, there were a great variety of projects for example: Hyperloop, squishes, free energy, the creation of the universe, quantum physics, etc. But there was one that won first place, free energy. The project was very well elaborated. First of all, they worked amazingly in class together and they also had great info. Finally their project was first and in a way that was not striking but they changed it to a bike that had a tiny motor touching the wheel and when you pedaled the motor spined which created electricity and the electricity went to the light bulb and the light bulb turned on. And the names of these winners were ... Michelle, Luciana, and Isabella. Now to end this up, the sad things. In TAG, (Talented And Gifted) TAG students we're having a normal class when mister Jim told his students that something may happen to TAG, so that got the students worried. classes after that mister Jim said "TAG is cancelled" that got the students sad. Then the students had an idea. They asked their moms if they could send a message to mister Brandon and mister Makhloof. Everyone was sad but mister Jim said TAG will now be an afternoon activity. But still the students could not go to TAG because they were busy because of afternoon sports. so until now the TAG students are still sad because TAG was better than any other class like history, math, anything.
